

Christine Weigner
Market Lufthansa Group – Commercial Functions
Associate Partner

Christine Weigner is our main contact for all commercial related topics and functions within the LH Group and heads our solution groups Customer Management and Product and Marketing Management.

Christine has lead and managed several consulting projects with a main focus on designing, optimizing and implementing commercial concepts and processes for our worldwide aviation clients. In an airline start up project, Christine took over the position of the Chief Commercial Officer and accounted for the entire set up and successful management of all relevant commercial functions, concepts, processes, IT landscape and the establishment of the commercial organization. For the Lufthansa Group Airlines, she managed internal process efficiency and cost optimization projects and was in charge for the Miles & More Carve Out approach.

Christine demonstrated her great enthusiasm for aviation in LTU's customer services and strategic alliance management unit in Düsseldorf while completing her degree in Tourism, Economics and Public Law. In her thesis she dealt in detail with the efficiency and effectiveness of airline loyalty programs.

Christine Weigner is fluent in German, English and French.
